SURFING THE ALPHONSE GROUP OF ISLANDS

Alphonse Island Lodge offers learn-to-surf and guided trips from beginners to pros, offering a wide range of surf spots for all skill sets!

There is no specific season for the surfing as the wind direction could be offshore at one spot and onshore at another. Ground swell is not seasonal and varies according to the weather systems that pass in the vicinity. Our surf guides have combed the atoll for the best waves and our favourite is a spot on North Point which we have named 'The Landing Strip'. The best part about this break is it can be reached by foot which is a short stroll across the flats directly in front of the Beach Bar, which makes for a great day of surfing followed by chilled cocktails and refreshments as you retire for the day.

For your optimum enjoyment and safety it is important that you select the right guiding programme for your ability (beginner, intermediate or advanced) so we can focus on getting you great waves during your stay.

If you are a beginner, our guides will be thrilled to teach you how to catch the waves suited to your ability, how to improve on your style and how to progress during your stay.

If you are an intermediate surfer, you may be slightly nervous about surfing over rocks or the reef, however, our guides will show you spots along our coastline that will push your boundaries and get you comfortably catching the wave of your holiday! We recommend that you can paddle into most waves you attempt to catch, can turn your board from frontside to backside and understand various wave types, surf etiquette and possess a reasonable level of fitness.

For the advanced surfers that land on our shores, you will be prepared to explore the unexplored and travel the distances to find the best, most remote waves you will ever ride! You would be comfortable riding reefs, point breaks and possibly tubes. You should be able to duck-dive well, be prepared for an epic adventure scouting the Alphonse Group for the best waves which you will be able to drop in on and maintain a good level of fitness.
