WEATHER

Small potential of rain in May and October but otherwise expect clear skies during the safari season. Temperatures during the day can get quite hot, but they always cool in the evening, so layers are needed year-round on activities. Both camps are closed from mid-November to the beginning of May every year.

MAY – JULY

3 – 36 °C | 37 – 97 °F

The bush is beginning to dry out. Evenings and mornings can be cold, but days are comfortable. Wildlife begins to move towards water sources and the animals become less dispersed in the park.

AUGUST – SEPTEMBER

7 – 40 °C | 45 – 104 °F

Daytime temps are increasing. Waterholes are close to dry and game concentrates along the rivers. Tigerfish begin biting, the carmine bee-eaters start nesting along the riverbanks, and the game viewing is at its peak.

OCTOBER – NOVEMBER

13 – 43 °C | 55 – 109 °F

The hottest time of the year, but still low on humidity until the rains begin. This is the best time of year for tiger fishing, and the game continues to concentrate along the water’s edge.

Based on the following 4 considerations we look at the positive impact that each guest is making by staying here:

- Transferability: What percentage of the daily rates is allocated to conservation and community initiatives?
- Removability: What impact would arise if the property were absent? Are there alternative lodges in the vicinity that continue to make positive contributions?
- Responsibility: To what extent does the property handle management privately, and how much is overseen as a concession under a collaborative arrangement?
- Fragility: How vulnerable is the surrounding environment and community?
