

TANDA TULA

Our Sustainability Levy, payable per person per night at Tanda Tula, is broken down into four components. Through doing this, we aim to promote greater understanding and awareness among our guests about the positive impact of their stay on both conservation efforts and the well-being of the local communities in the Greater Kruger region. We believe in the power of responsible tourism to create meaningful change, and through this levy, we strive to make a lasting difference in this precious ecosystem.

Timbavati Conservation Levy: R 575 per person per night

This fee is directed to the Timbavati Private Nature Reserve (TPNR) and is crucial for the operational functioning of the reserve. It aids in funding essential activities such as fence line maintenance, anti-poaching efforts, and overall security measures. Furthermore, a portion of this fee is allocated to the Timbavati Foundation, which supports community development within the TPNR region.

Tanda Tula Foundation Fee: R 150 per person per night

The Tanda Tula Foundation receives this fee to facilitate our commitment to empowering the local community. It finances scholarships for children of both Tanda Tula staff and of the local community, providing them access to high-quality education in local private schools. Additionally, it supports our internal adult education program and funds tertiary education opportunities for local school graduates.

Land Management Levy: R 475 per person per night

As custodians of over 2000Ha of land within the TPNR, Tanda Tula takes responsibility for various conservation efforts. These include fire management, water management, protection of large red-listed trees, erosion site rehabilitation and management, control of alien plant species, and active involvement in Greater Kruger research projects, such as Ground Hornbill research, Vulture research, Elephant research, and Leopard research. The land management fee contributes to the costs associated with these conservation interventions on the land under our direct management.

Bushbuckridge Local Community Levy: R 300 per person per night

The Bushbuckridge Local Municipality encompasses the community bordering the reserves of the Greater Kruger. This region faces unique challenges in raising funds for municipal operations, given its sparse population and lack of affluent households. As businesses operating within this municipal area, we are committed to providing substantial monthly levies to assist the municipal authorities in funding their operations. The Bushbuckridge Local Community levy helps support this cause, directly benefiting the local communities through their municipal structures.
